Liberals Dip Following the Debate

Scheer and Singh seen as winners, Trudeau as loser

Toronto, October 8th – In a random sampling of public opinion taken by The Forum Poll™ among 1013 Canadian voters, amongst those decided and leaning, a third (35%) say they would support the Conservatives if the election were held today, while a quarter (28%) say they support the Liberals.

1 in 10 (12%) say they would support the Greens, while a similar proportion (13%) say they would support the NDP.

About 1 in 20 (7%) say they would support the BQ, while a few would support the PPC (3%) or another party (2%).

If these results were projected into seats, we expect a minority parliament with the Conservatives winning 152 seats and the Liberals winning 117.

The NDP would win 29, the BQ would win 36, and the Green would win 4.

Trudeau rating on best PM drops

A quarter, (25%) (down from a third Oct 2: 31%) say Justin Trudeau would make the best Prime Minister. Just under a third (29%) say that Andrew Scheer would.

Jagmeet Singh's rating has improved six points (19%) to one-fifth since early October (Oct 2: 13%). Elizabeth May is seen as best PM by 1 in 10 (8%).

One-fifth (18%) say they don't know who would make the best PM.

Canadians divided on whether Canada is better or worse

Half (TOP2: 47%) say Canada is doing better than four years ago, with one-sixth (15%) saying it's much better.

Half (BTM2: 53%) say it's doing worse, with a third (31%) saying it's doing much worse.

1 in 10 (13%) see Jagmeet Singh as best, while a similar proportion see it as Elizabeth May (8%).

Few see Yves-François Blanchet (3%) or Maxime Bernier (2%) as best equipped to represent Canada.

1 in 20 (5%) said no one, and 1 in 10 (8%) said they were not sure.

Half approve of including Bernier in the debate

Of those that heard about, or watched the debate, half (48%) said they approve of including Maxime Bernier in the debate, while a third (35%) say they disapprove.

One-fifth (17%) said they don't know.

“In the immediate aftermath of the debate, support seems to be shifting away from the Liberals,” said Dr. Lorne Bozinoff, President of Forum Research. “Rising intention for the Bloc is hurting their seat prospects in Québec, while the Conservatives are slightly above where we saw them a few weeks ago. Jagmeet Singh had a strong performance in the debate and the numbers show it: more people see him as best Prime Minister, and a fifth say he won the debate.”

Methodology

The Forum Poll™ was conducted by Forum Research with the results based on an interactive voice response telephone survey of 1013 randomly selected Canadians across the country. The poll was conducted Oct 7 (after the conclusion of the debate)-October 8, 2019.

Results based on the total sample are considered accurate +/- 3%, 19 times out of 20, measured as the average deviation across all response categories. Subsample results will be less accurate. Margins of error for subsample (such as age, gender) results are available at www.forumresearch.com/samplestim.asp

Where appropriate, the data has been statistically weighted by age, region, and other variables to ensure that the sample reflects the actual population according to the latest Census data.

This research is not necessarily predictive of future outcomes, but rather, captures opinion at one point in time. Actual results depend on the parties' ability to get their voters out. Forum Research conducted this poll as a public service and to demonstrate our survey research capabilities. Forum houses its poll results in the Data Library of the Department of Political Science at the University of Toronto.

With offices across Canada and around the world, 100% Canadian-owned Forum Research is one of the country's leading survey research firms. This Forum Poll™ and other polls may be found at Forum's poll archive at forumpoll.com.
