Federal Conservatives and Liberals Tied

But seat math favours the Liberals

Toronto, October 2nd – In a random sampling of public opinion taken by The Forum Poll™ among 1853 Canadian voters, amongst those decided and leaning, a third (31%) say they would support the Conservatives if the election were held today, while a similar proportion (34%) say they support the Liberals.

1 in 10 (12%) say they would support the Greens, while a similar proportion (12%) say they would support the NDP.

About 1 in 20 (6%) say they would support the BQ, while a similar proportion would support the PPC (4%). Few (2%) are supporting another party.

If these results were projected into seats, we expect a minority parliament with the Liberals holding 168 seats and with the Conservatives holding 130.

The NDP would win 21, the BQ would win 15, and the Green would win 4.

Justin Trudeau sees approval from more than a third (36%) and disapproval from more than half (55%), with about 1 in 10 (9%) saying they don't know. His net favourable score is -19 (approve-disapprove).

“The race continues to be even, with the Liberals and the Conservatives tied in percentage of voter support,” said Dr. Lorne Bozinoff, President of Forum Research. “The seat math, however, currently favours the Liberals, and suggests a minority. The environment and climate change tops the list of election issues, with more than a third saying it's the most important one to them in this campaign.”

Methodology

The Forum Poll™ was conducted by Forum Research with the results based on an interactive voice response telephone survey of 1853 randomly selected Canadians across the country. The poll was conducted September 30-October 1, 2019.

Results based on the total sample are considered accurate +/- 3%, 19 times out of 20, measured as the average deviation across all response categories. Subsample results will be less accurate. Margins of error for subsample (such as age, gender) results are available at www.forumresearch.com/samplestim.asp

Where appropriate, the data has been statistically weighted by age, region, and other variables to ensure that the sample reflects the actual population according to the latest Census data.

This research is not necessarily predictive of future outcomes, but rather, captures opinion at one point in time. Actual results depend on the parties' ability to get their voters out. Forum Research conducted this poll as a public service and to demonstrate our survey research capabilities. Forum houses its poll results in the Data Library of the Department of Political Science at the University of Toronto.

With offices across Canada and around the world, 100% Canadian-owned Forum Research is one of the country's leading survey research firms. This Forum Poll™ and other polls may be found at Forum's poll archive at forumpoll.com.

Top2/Btm2 (or 3 or 4 where applicable) refers to the combined results of the most answered positive and negative responses:
