FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

More Than A Third Disapprove Of Sex Ed Curriculum

One sixth have or would withdraw children from school

In a random sampling of public opinion taken by the Forum Poll among 1172 Ontario voters, one half approve of the province's new sex education curriculum (48%), while just more than a third disapprove (36%). One sixth do not have an opinion (15%). This is in comparison to July of last year, when one half approved (49%) and more than a third disapproved (37%). At that time one sixth had no opinion (14%). Disapproval of the curriculum is characteristic of the mid aged (45 to 54 - 41%), the less wealthy ($20K to $40K - 42%), among PC supporters especially (56%), among the least educated (secondary school or less - 46%), Protestant Christians (45%), Pentecostal or Evangelical Christians especially (80%), other Christians (44%) but not those of no religious belief (18%).

One sixth have or would withdraw children from school

In total, 1-in-33 parents have withdrawn a child from the public school system because the sex education curriculum (3%) and a further tenth or so would withhold children if they had any in elementary school (13%) for a total of one sixth who have or would take their children out of school because of the curriculum (16%).

Two thirds disagree Catholic School boards should avoid anti-bullying guidelines

Two thirds disagree Catholic school boards should be able to avoid following the province's anti-bullying guidelines, because they include discussions of sexual identity (62%), while just one quarter agree that Catholic schools should not have to follow the guidelines (26%) and one tenth have no opinion (14%). Agreeing that Catholic schools should not have to host discussions of sexual orientation is characteristic of the mid aged (45 to 54 - 31%), in southwestern Ontario (30%), among PC voters (41%), mothers of children under 18 (32%), the least educated (30%), Pentecostal or Evangelical Christians (66%), other Christians (33%) and members of non-Christian religions (35%). Catholics are no more likely to support it than others (29%).

One half think funds should be withheld from non-compliant school boards

One half of Ontario voters agree that public funding should be withheld from Catholic school boards which choose not to implement the new anti-bullying guidelines (48%), while 4-in-10 disagree (39%). One tenth have no opinion (13%).

NEWS RELEASE

FORUM RESEARCH INC.

Agreeing funds should be withheld from non-compliant boards is common to the oldest (54%), those in mid income ($40K to $60K - 54%) and very wealthy brackets ($100K to $250K - 52%), in the city of Toronto and northern Ontario (52% each), among Liberals (54%) and New Democrats (58%), Protestant Christians (52%), those with no religion (62%) and those who approve of the new sex education curriculum (62%).

Four-in-ten opposed to public funding of Catholic schools in Ontario

Four-in-ten voters disagree Catholic schools should continue to receive public funds (40%), and they are outnumbered by those who believe the funding should continue (47%). One tenth have no opinion (13%). This is in contrast to the last time we polled this question, three years ago, when the no side was somewhat more numerous (May, 2013 - 44%) and the don't knows rarer (8%). Being against public funding of Catholic schools is common to the youngest (45%), males (44%), mid income groups ($40K to $60K - 44%) and the wealthiest ($100K to $250K - 44%), in Northern Ontario (47%), the best educated (post grad - 44%), Protestant Christians (47%), non-Christians (46%), those who have no religion (58%) and those who approve of the new sex education curriculum (49%).

"Public funding of Catholic schools is something of an open constitutional sore in Ontario. We keep picking at the scab, so it never heals. It is clear that those Catholic school boards who are resisting the province's anti-bullying guidelines do not have the public on their side, and that could be damaging to their own interests in the long run" said Forum Research President, Dr. Lorne Bozinoff.

Methodology

The Forum Poll™ was conducted by Forum Research with the results based on an interactive voice response telephone survey of 1172 randomly selected Canadian adults. The poll was conducted on May 31st, 2016.

Results based on the total sample are considered accurate +/- 3%, 19 times out of 20. Subsample results will be less accurate. Margins of error for subsample (such as age, gender) results are available at www.forumresearch.com/samplestim.asp

Where appropriate, the data has been statistically weighted by age, region, and other variables to ensure that the sample reflects the actual population according to the latest Census data.

This research is not necessarily predictive of future outcomes, but rather, captures opinion at one point in time. Forum Research conducted this poll as a public service and to demonstrate our survey research capabilities. Forum houses its poll results in the Data Library of the Department of Political Science at the University of Toronto.

With offices across Canada and around the world, 100% Canadian-owned Forum Research is one of the country's leading survey research firms. This Forum Poll™ and other polls may be found at Forum's poll archive at www.forumresearch.com/polls.asp
