FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

The Majority of TTC Users Satisfied with the TTC, Overall

Torontonians think the Downtown Relief Line should be the number one priority

Toronto, February 9th – In a random sampling of public opinion taken by The Forum Poll™ among 977 Toronto voters, amongst those who have used the TTC in the past month, two-thirds (TOP3: 66%) say they are satisfied with the TTC, overall, but only 1 in 10 (9%) say they are very satisfied. One quarter (28%) say they are satisfied with the TTC, and 1 in 10 (12%) say they are somewhat satisfied.

One-third (34%) say they are dissatisfied with the TTC, with about 1 in 10 (11%) saying they are very dissatisfied, the same proportion saying they are dissatisfied (11%), and (12%) saying they are somewhat dissatisfied.

Respondents most likely to say that they are satisfied (TOP3) with the TTC include those aged 65+ (86%), earning $20,000-$40,000 (73%) or the most wealthy (71%), the least educated (75%), living in downtown Toronto (72%), and supporting the Liberals (77%).

Respondents most likely to say that they are dissatisfied (BTM3) include those aged 34 and younger (43%), females (36%), earning $40,000-$60,000 (41%) or $60,000-$80,000 (41%), living in East York (n=88)(39%) or Scarborough (41%), and supporting the PCs (44%).

Satisfaction is lower amongst frequent and rush-hour users.

Amongst those that use the TTC daily, dissatisfaction is higher than average, (BTM3: 42%) with one-sixth (14%) saying they are somewhat dissatisfied, just under one-sixth saying they are dissatisfied (13%) and one-sixth (15%) saying they are very dissatisfied.

Amongst those that use the TTC more than once per day (57%) a majority of users say they are dissatisfied, with one-sixth (17%) saying they are very dissatisfied, few (4%) saying they are dissatisfied, but more than a third (36%) saying they are very dissatisfied.

Dissatisfaction is also higher than average amongst those that say they primarily travel during rush hour, with 4 in 10 (BTM3: 43%) saying they are dissatisfied.

“Overall, the majority of users are satisfied with the TTC, but the satisfaction is reduced for those who say they frequently experience overcrowding on the subway,” said Dr. Lorne Bozinoff, President of Forum Research. “Perhaps that’s why the plurality of Torontonians feel that the downtown relief line should be the TTC’s number one priority. Support for the DRL equals the support of all of the other 4 stated options combined, including the Scarborough Subway Extension, Smart Track, and Eglinton East LRT.”

Most have experienced overcrowding on the subway

One-sixth (16%) say they always experience overcrowding on the subway. One-third (35%) say they encounter overcrowding most of the time, with 4 in 10 (40%) saying they sometimes experience overcrowding. 1 in 10 (9%) say they never experience subway overcrowding.

Unsurprisingly, satisfaction is tied to how much respondents experience overcrowding.

Respondents that say they always experience overcrowding are also highly likely to say they are dissatisfied, with two-thirds (BTM 3: 65%) saying that they are dissatisfied with the TTC.

Respondents that say they experience most of the time are split, with about half (TOP3: 53%) saying they are satisfied, and about half (BTM3: 47%) saying they are dissatisfied.

Respondents who only experience overcrowding sometimes, are much more likely to be satisfied with the TTC overall, with a huge majority (TOP3: 83%) satisfied.

Respondents who never experience overcrowding are, unsurprisingly, very satisfied with the TTC, with almost everyone (95%) saying they are satisfied with the TTC, overall.

Rush hour versus off-peak is a factor for experiencing overcrowding

Respondents who say they never experience overcrowding on the subway, are also highly likely to be travelling during off-peak hours, with (84%) saying they are travelling off-peak and one-sixth (16%) saying they are traveling during rush hour.

Two-thirds (66%) of the respondents that say they encounter overcrowding sometimes say they travel during off-peak hours, with the other third (34%) travelling during rush hour.

Respondents that say they encounter overcrowding most of the time are most likely to be travelling during rush hour (70%), with far fewer (30%) experiencing overcrowding off-peak.

Respondents that say they always encounter overcrowding are mostly travelling during rush hour (85%), with only one-sixth (16%) travelling off-peak.

Half feel unsafe because of overcrowding on the subway, just under half don't

Half (TOP2: 50%) of respondents say that overcrowding on the subway makes them feel unsafe, (BTM2: 46%) say it's not too bad, while a few (4%) say they do not know.

Overcrowding makes 2/3's consider other forms of transportation

Two-thirds (TOP3: 62%) say that overcrowding will make them more likely consider other forms of transportation, with a third (BTM3: 34%) saying they are not much more likely to consider other forms of transportation.

One third (34%) say that overcrowding makes them much more likely to consider other forms of transportation.

Downtown relief line should be the number one priority

The plurality, 4 in 10, (41%) say the downtown relief line is the project that should be the TTC's number one priority. In Scarborough, however, the Scarborough Subway extension and stacked bus garage is by far the most popular option, with 4 in 10 (44%) saying that should be the priority

One-sixth (16%) say it should be the Scarborough subway extension and stacked bus garage, while 1 in 10 (12%) say it should be the Eglinton East LRT or Smart Track (10%). Few (4%) think it should be the Waterfront Transit LRT network.

One-sixth (17%) say they do not know which project the number one priority should be.

Respondents most likely to support the relief line include those aged 34 and younger (44%), 35-44 (41%), or 55-64 (42%), the most wealthy (50%), with a college/university (47%) or post-graduate (49%) degree, living in downtown Toronto (60%), and supporting the NDP (45%).

"Overall, the majority of users are satisfied with the TTC, but the satisfaction is reduced for those who say they frequently experience overcrowding on the subway," said Dr. Lorne Bozinoff, President of Forum Research. "Perhaps that's why the plurality of Torontonians feel that the downtown relief line should be the TTC's number one priority. Methodology

The Forum Poll™ was conducted by Forum Research with the results based on an interactive voice response telephone survey of 977 randomly selected Toronto Voters. The poll was conducted February 7-8, 2017.

Results based on the total sample are considered accurate +/- 3%, 19 times out of 20. Subsample results will be less accurate. Margins of error for subsample (such as age, gender) results are available at www.forumresearch.com/samplestim.asp

Where appropriate, the data has been statistically weighted by age, region, and other variables to ensure that the sample reflects the actual population according to the latest Census data.

This research is not necessarily predictive of future outcomes, but rather, captures opinion at one point in time. Forum Research conducted this poll as a public service and to demonstrate our survey research capabilities. Forum houses its poll results in the Data Library of the Department of Political Science at the University of Toronto.

With offices across Canada and around the world, 100% Canadian-owned Forum Research is one of the country's leading survey research firms. This Forum Poll™ and other polls may be found at Forum's poll archive at forumpoll.com.
