PCs Widen the Gap in Ontario

70% PC majority seen; NDP as opposition

In a random sampling of public opinion taken by the Forum Poll™ among 1154 Ontario voters, close to one half would vote Progressive Conservative if the election were held today (45%), while just one quarter (25%) would vote Liberal, for a 20 point gap between the two parties. This is an increase from a 13 point gap noted last month (August 15, PC - 41%, Liberal - 28%). The NDP currently has a vote share of just less than a quarter (23%) and this has not changed since last month. One twentieth support the Green Party (6%) and few support any other party (2%).

The PCs are especially strong in Eastern Ontario (51%), while the Liberals have their best showing in the city of Toronto (33%), Nonetheless, the PCs lead in the city (40%).

A significant gender gap exists in that males predominate in PC ranks (51% to 39% female), while females are more common among Liberal supporters (29% to 21% male). The one group with which the Liberals score highest is the best educated (post grad - 37%).

70% majority seen: NDP to form opposition

If these results are projected up to seats in the legislature, the Progressive Conservatives would take 70% of them, or 75 seats, to 24 for the New Democrats. The Liberals would keep just 8 seats.

Leader approvals are stable

Fewer than a fifth of voters approve of Kathleen Wynne (16%), and this is as low as she has polled. Her net favourable score (approve minus disapprove) is a deeply negative - 58.

Patrick Brown has the approval of just more than a quarter (27%), and, owing to the high unknowns (48%), has a net score of just +1.

Andrea Horwath has the approval of a third of voters (36%), and her net favourable score is a positive +11.

Patrick Brown seen to be best Premier, along with “none of these”

One quarter of voters pick Patrick Brown as the best potential Premier (25%), the same proportion who say none of the leaders listed can do the job (24%). Andrea Horwath follows, with a fifth of the vote (19%) and the incumbent brings up the rear with about one sixth of the vote share (15%).

“The gap between the two leading parties is growing, and it’s only a matter of time until the NDP takes over second place in the popular vote share like it has with the projected number of seats. Andrea Horwath doesn’t score very high in approvals, but she still scores higher than anyone else” said Forum Research President, Dr. Lorne Bozinoff.

HIGHLIGHTS:

- Patrick Brown is seen to be the best candidate for Premier by a quarter (25%)
- “It appears Premier Wynne’s chickens have finally come home to roost, and voters have started to notice the controversies surrounding her government. The beneficiary, however, appears to be the NDP, rather than the PCs, although a majority would be theirs if the election were held today” said Forum Research President, Dr. Lorne Bozinoff.

Methodology

The Forum Poll™ was conducted by Forum Research with the results based on an interactive voice response telephone survey of 1154 randomly selected Ontario voters. The poll was conducted on September 12th and 13th, 2016.

Results based on the total sample are considered accurate +/- 3%, 19 times out of 20. Subsample results will be less accurate. Margins of error for subsample (such as age, gender) results are available at www.forumresearch.com/samplestim.asp

Where appropriate, the data has been statistically weighted by age, region, and other variables to ensure that the sample reflects the actual population according to the latest Census data.

This research is not necessarily predictive of future outcomes, but rather, captures opinion at one point in time. Forum Research conducted this poll as a public service and to demonstrate our survey research capabilities. Forum houses its poll results in the Data Library of the Department of Political Science at the University of Toronto.
